

Why Procurement and M&A is no Template

The Added Value(s) of Procurement and Organisational Consultancy

All Businesses and Markets are different and moving, there is no standard

(There is also no Template how to keep your wife happy)

You cannot judge a companies performance or potential with Finance and a quick scan.

(You cannot judge a book by it's cover)

Markets that thrive today might not exist tomorrow

(Market shifting; a clear future vision is required)

Internal organisational structures and cultures might be impossible to tackle

(You cannot make a King out of a Eunuch)

Growing bigger might seem better, but it can also lead to loads of bureaucracy

(If you want to be the government just finance them)

What is better? An Acquisition or a Merger?

(Both carry their risks, which risk are you going to take?)

How am I going to tackle the reorganisation?

(Like M&A, Markets and your wife, reorganisations don't have any template)

Proper research may give you a completely other view and perspective

(There is not one road to Rome, but many)
